

Student Membership AOAC INTERNATIONAL

Get on Track for a Career Dedicated to Analytical Excellence

About AOAC's Student Membership

AOAC INTERNATIONAL is a professional scientific association dedicated to the validation of analytical methods and quality laboratory management. Today AOAC's membership numbers reach nearly 3,000 members from more than 90 countries, working in industry, government and academia. AOAC designed a student membership program to encourage active students to participate and engage with AOAC INTERNATIONAL and provide students with the opportunity to get on track for a career dedicated to analytical excellence.

Making the Most of Your Student Membership

Attend Events Designed Just for You

At the AOAC INTERNATIONAL Annual Meeting, Student Members have an opportunity to attend specially designed student workshops and symposia, participate in the student research poster session, take advantage of the free job board to locate employment opportunities or post your resume, and join fellow students and new members at the Student and New Member Reception.

Make Valuable Professional Contacts

Throughout the year, AOAC sponsors meetings, workshops, and regional Section events, which offer outstanding networking opportunities. This is your chance to get to know other AOAC members, build and expand your professional contacts and learn more about career experiences of people working in all areas of analytical sciences.
